Taxpayers affected by California disasters declared by the President and/or the Governor should write the name of the disaster in red ink at the top of their tax return the year they claim the loss and file the return with the Franchise Tax Board (FTB).

General Information

List of Disasters
For a list of the most current California disasters declared by the President and/or the Governor, go to ftb.ca.gov and search for disaster loss for individuals and businesses.

For taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 2014, and before January 1, 2024, taxpayers may deduct a disaster loss for any loss sustained in any city, county, or city and county in California that is proclaimed by the Governor to be in a state of emergency. For these Governor-only declared disasters, subsequent state legislation is not required to activate the disaster loss provisions. Any law that suspends, defers, reduces, or otherwise diminishes the deduction of a net operating loss (NOL) shall not apply to a net operating loss attributable to these specified disaster losses. The President's declaration continues to activate the disaster loss provisions. For a complete list of all disasters declared by the President and/or the Governor, see the “Recent Disaster Loss Relief” chart on page 7 and page 8.

This publication is designed to help you with financial recovery and explains how you can claim your financial loss as a deduction on your California tax return.

For additional information specific to your disaster see page 7 and page 8 of this publication or form FTB 3805V, Net Operating Loss (NOL) Computation and NOL and Disaster Loss Limitations – Individuals, Estates, and Trusts and form FTB 3805Q, Net Operating Loss (NOL) Computation and NOL and Disaster Loss Limitations – Corporations.

Casualty and Disaster Losses
California law generally follows federal law regarding the treatment of losses incurred as a result of a casualty or a disaster. To qualify as a disaster loss for federal purposes, the President of the United States must declare the area in which the disaster occurred as a disaster area, eligible for federal assistance under the Robert T. Stafford Disaster Relief and Emergency Assistance Act. This includes a major disaster or emergency declaration under the Act. A pronouncement by the Governor of California declaring an area as a disaster or emergency area is not enough to qualify as a disaster loss for federal purposes. A casualty loss occurs when your property is lost or damaged due to an earthquake, fire, flood, or similar event that is sudden, unexpected, or unusual. You usually qualify for a casualty loss deduction for tax purposes when insurance or other reimbursements do not repay you for damage to your property. For California purposes, your casualty loss becomes a disaster loss when both of the following occur:

• You sustain the loss in an area the President or the Governor of California declares a state of emergency.
• You sustain the loss because of the declared disaster.

Special tax rules apply to disaster losses. You can claim a disaster loss in the taxable year the disaster occurred or in the taxable year immediately before the disaster occurred. The advantage of claiming a disaster loss in the prior year is that the loss will generally reduce the prior year tax liability generating a refund that the FTB can quickly issue.

Claiming a Disaster Loss on an Amended Tax Return
You can claim a disaster loss either on an amended tax return filed for the preceding year or on the tax return filed for the year of the loss. If you have already filed your tax return for the preceding year, you can claim a disaster loss against that year's income by filing amended tax return.

Schedule X, California Explanation of Amended Return Changes
For taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 2017, the Schedule X has replaced the Form 540X, Amended Individual Income Tax Return. For additional information, see Instructions for Filing Amended Returns in the personal income tax booklets.

The due date for filing an amended individual tax return is April 15 following the year of the loss, unless extended. For example, you sustained a disaster loss in August 2018. You can claim the loss on your 2018 tax return when you file it by April 15, 2019, or claim the loss immediately on your 2017 tax return. If you already filed your 2017 tax return, complete a Schedule X. You must make the election to claim the loss on your 2017 tax return by April 15, 2019, the original due date for the 2018 tax return or by the extended due date. For more information, see page 5, When to Claim Your Disaster Loss.

Disaster Loss Carryover Rules
For disasters that occurred in taxable years 2004 through 2011, you are allowed to carryover 100% of the excess loss for up to 15 years. Exception: Certain disasters that were Presidentially declared with no subsequent California legislation can be carried over for 20 years.

See the “Recent Disaster Loss Relief” table on page 7 and page 8 for a list of the disasters that qualify for the 20 years disaster loss carryover.
For disaster losses incurred in taxable years 2000 through 2003, you can deduct any excess loss that remains after the five-year period for up to 10 more years at the following percentage rates:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Percentage Allowed to Carry Over</th>
<th>For Disasters incurred in Taxable Year</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>60</td>
<td>2002 and 2003</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>55</td>
<td>2000 and 2001</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

If you have both disaster loss carryovers and net operating loss carryovers, you must use them in the order you incurred them. There is no requirement to deduct NOL carryovers, before disaster loss carryovers.

Taxpayers should complete form FTB 3805V or form FTB 3805Q for the year of loss to compute the carryover.

Net Operating Loss Carryback

General Rule

Taxpayers must first carry back the entire NOL incurred in 2018 to the preceding two years. Any loss not applied in the preceding two years can be carried forward up to 20 years. For more information, get form FTB 3805V or form FTB 3805Q.

How to Calculate a Disaster Loss

Compute your tax loss on your federal tax return and transfer that loss amount to your California tax return. In some cases, you may need to make adjustments between state and federal tax laws on your California tax return. For more information, get FTB Pub. 1001, Supplemental Guidelines to California Adjustments.

Individuals

Calculate your disaster loss by reporting California amounts on federal Form 4684, Casualties and Thefts, Section A - Personal Use Property, and submitting this form with your California tax return. If you are claiming a disaster loss on a prior year return, then see the note in the next column for additional instructions.

Determine your personal loss by using the smaller of the decrease in the fair market value of your property due to the casualty or the adjusted basis of the property. Fair market value means the amount at which property would change hands between a willing buyer and seller. Adjusted basis generally means what you paid for the property plus the cost of any improvements, less deductions such as depreciation. To determine your allowable loss, deduct insurance proceeds or other reimbursement you received or expect to receive. Next, subtract $100 and then 10% of your federal adjusted gross income. Claim the remaining amount as your casualty or disaster loss.

Businesses

Calculate your disaster loss by reporting California amounts on federal Form 4684, Casualties and Thefts, Section B – Business and Income-Producing Property. If the business is claiming a disaster loss on a prior year return, then see the note below for additional instructions.

Determine your business loss by using the smaller of the decrease in the fair market value of your property due to the casualty or the adjusted basis of the property. To determine the allowable loss, deduct insurance or other reimbursement you received or expect to receive.

Note:

If you or a business are making an election under IRC Section 165(i) to claim a loss on the preceding year, then complete the federal Form 4684, Section D - Election To Deduct Federally Declared Disaster Loss in Preceding Tax Year, in additional to Section A or Section B.

Federal Postponement Periods

California automatically follows federal postponement periods as announced by the Internal Revenue Service (IRS). The IRS may postpone for up to one year certain tax deadlines for taxpayers affected by a Presidential declaration disaster. Tax deadlines subject to postponement include those for filing tax returns, paying income taxes, and making contributions to a traditional Individual Retirement Arrangement (IRA) or Roth IRA. The IRS and the FTB may cancel the interest and penalties on underpaid income tax for the length of any postponement deadlines.

If the IRS postpones a tax deadline, the following taxpayers are eligible for the postponement:

- Any individual whose main home is located in a covered disaster area.
- Any business whose principal place of business does not have to be located in the disaster area.
- Any relief worker affiliated with a recognized government or philanthropic organization and who is assisting in a covered disaster area.
- Any individual or business whose records are needed to meet a postponed deadline, provided those records are maintained in a covered disaster area.
- Any estate or trust that has tax records needed to meet a postponed tax deadline, provided those records are maintained in a covered disaster area.
- The spouse on a joint tax return with a taxpayer who is eligible for postponements.
- Any other person determined by the IRS to be affected by a Presidential-declared disaster.

Disasters Outside of California

If you meet the qualifications to claim a disaster loss anywhere within the United States and have a California tax-filing requirement (resident or nonresident), the same disaster rules and postponement periods automatically apply to you. Be sure you indicate on your tax return the name and date (in red at the top of your tax return) of which disaster you are claiming a loss. If taxpayers are e-filing, they should follow the software instructions to enter disaster information.
Documentation You Must Attach to your California Tax Return

To report your losses, you may need the following California forms:

- Schedule D-1, Sales of Business Property.
- Form FTB 3805V, Net Operating Loss (NOL) Computation and NOL and Disaster Loss Limitations – Individuals, Estates, and Trusts.
- Form FTB 3805Q, Net Operating Loss (NOL) Computation and NOL and Disaster Loss Limitations – Corporations.

You must also include these federal forms in your disaster loss documentation:

- A federal Form 4684, Casualties and Thefts (use California amounts).
- Any supporting federal schedules that verify your deduction.

If you are claiming a disaster loss on the current year return, you must attach a clearly written statement to your loss documentation that indicates:

- The date of the disaster.
- The location of the disaster (city, county, and state).

If you are claiming a disaster loss on the prior year return, see the note under How to Calculate a Disaster Loss on page 4.

It is a good idea to take and keep photos of the damaged property to document the loss.

For filing deadline dates specific to your disaster, refer to the table on this page under When to Claim Your Disaster Loss.

When to Claim Your Disaster Loss

Refunds

Our commitment is to quickly issue refunds to disaster victims.

Taxpayers may e-file their original and amended tax returns. If you electronically file your disaster loss tax return, follow your tax software instructions to enter the disaster information.

You can also file paper tax returns. To help us process your refund quickly, use red ink to print the name of the disaster at the top of Side 1 of your California tax return (for example: DISASTER – WEST FIRE 2018).

We give these disaster tax returns top priority and will process them as quickly as possible. Go to ftb.ca.gov and click on Where is My Refund to check your refund status.

1 For taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 2014 and before January 1, 2024, the state throwback election may be made on or before the later of:
- The due date of the tax return, including extensions for the taxable year in which the disaster actually occurred.
- The due date of the tax return, including extensions, for the taxable year immediately preceding the tax year of occurrence.

Note - For taxable years on or before January 1, 2014, if California legislature passed legislation that extends the election date by listing the disaster in R&TC, the state throwback election could be made.
